(c) and (d) During the on-going negotiations on W.T.O. Agreement on agriculture, India has periodically submitted negotiating proposals as well as co-sponsored proposals with like minded members of W.T.O. In these negotiating proposals, India has sought, inter alia, substantial reduction in all forms of domestic support by the developed countries and elimination of export countries, except the export subsidies provided by the developing countries to reduce their high costs of marketing, including handling, upgrading and other processing costs and costs of transport and freight, permitted under the existing provisions of W.T.O. (Agreement on Agriculture) which would remain without reduction commitments. India has also proposed that food and livelihood security concerns of the developing countries should be safeguarded, and substantial improvements in market access in products of export interest to developing countries should be agreed. The negotiations are scheduled to be concluded by 1st January, 2005.
